A Letter from the Directors

In 2018, Bill Irwin approached Irish Repertory Theatre with a most enticing proposition.

He had a show in the back pocket of his baggy pants that featured the writings of one of Ireland's great writers, Mr. Samuel Beckett.

Not only was he proposing to perform a series of iconic scenes, but he was also planning to share his complicated relationship with the works of this enigmatic scribe.

One of the world's most famous clowns whose singular artistry often focuses on the silent visual was offering to shine a light on Beckett's words.

It took us all of thirty seconds to say an emphatic YES, and it was an excellent call. The show, On Beckett, went on to be a resounding success.

Since 2018, Bill has travelled the country, spreading the gospel according to Beckett and Irwin, refining and re-defining his creation. We are so are so pleased to welcome him home to hear it all anew.
